

Why is e^x so calm when it's differentiated?

PUNCHLINE

It's already been through it all and come out the same.